Bogotá D.C., May 8th, 2014.

The rating agency Standard and Poor`s, S&P, has affirmed the investment grade to both EEB and TGI, grade BBB- with a stable outlook.

S&P highlights in its official communication, EEB's satisfactory business risk profile, its intermediate financial risk profile and its adequate liquidity. This rating action occurs after EEB announced on last April 4th, the acquisition of remaining 31.92% TGI's stake held by The Rohatyn Group (formerly CVCI), a transaction amounting USD 880 million that will be partially funded with debt.

The rating on EEB reflects EEB's strong competitive position mainly due to its low-risk regulated businesses in countries with favorable institutional and regulatory framework. Additionally its competitive position is supported by its scale and scope, with important presence in electricity and natural gas sectors, with a moderate geographical and business line diversification, in line with an important dividend stream, which provides EEB with stable and predictable cash flow generation.

S&P rating on TGI reflects TGI's satisfactory business profile, stability and predictability of long-term cash flow stream. TGI's position as a natural monopoly business provides TGI with significant competitive position and financial strengths due to favorable institutional and regulatory framework.

The firm notes that TGI's has the financial flexibility to absorb significant debt increase without weakening its creditworthiness. In order to improve credit metrics, TGI will prepay some amount of future contracted debt, that is part of the funding of the transaction announced by its parent company, EEB, which will deleverage the company significantly.

Mrs Sandra Fonseca, EEB's Chief Executive Officer, expressed her satisfaction with S&P's decision and, more importantly, with the facts that support it. Mrs. Fonseca also noted that S&P rating action is also in line with the ratings reports issued previously on April by the agencies Fitch (BBB- outlook stable) and Moody's (Baa3, outlook stable), "These ratings reflect our serious and consistent growth within a business plan focused on electricity and natural gas with regional scope".
